

CAVALRY GETS I. A. C.

Visitors Push Two Across in Third Inning

WHICH GAVE THEM GAME

Athletics Fought Gamely to Overcome the Lead, but to No Avail—Could Not Score Against Colored Boys After Third.

A crowd of over four hundred people witnessed the Italian Athletics take the count before the strong colored team from the Tenth Cavalry of Fort Ethan Allen on Goddard campus Saturday afternoon. The score was 2 to 1. A series of misuses in the third round allowed the visitors to push their two runs across the pan. Although the Italians were crippled in several positions, they fought gamely to overcome the lead, but to no avail. At one or two stages of the game, it was evident that the score would at least be tied, but fast work on the part of the fielders, and White's consistent work in the box for the soldiers prevented the local base runners from tallying. Joe Weafer did the honors for the home team and was touched for a total of only four well-scattered hits. Had he received any kind of support in the third, the dope sheet would have read differently.

In that fatal third inning, Berry was the first man up and reached first on a scratch hit, and after touching second on Maberlin's error he scored when Lewis was safe on a grounder which was thrown to the plate a little too late to prevent the tally. In the meantime, Lewis had gone to second and later crossed the pan when Maberlin booted White's grounder. The latter circled the bases as far as third, where he was caught napping and was an easy out. Wisharti to David. Bradley, next up, grounded out to first, while Page, who got a life at first on a fielder's choice, was put out between second and third. David to Maberlin. This was the third putout, and thereafter, with the exception of the ninth, the visitors did not have a ghost of a chance to repeat their third-inning stunt. In the last inning, Tucker singled to right, was sacrificed to second by Franklin, but was out at third, when Weafer threw to David. The Italians secured their lone tally in the fourth, and it was Joe Weafer who figured largely in the run-getting by clouting out a line drive over left field fence, good for two bases. He stole the third sack and scored later, when White fumbled Jacamuzzi's easy grounder. Wisharti had already whiffed three times in vain, when a fast double pulled off by Berry, Franklin and Patterson put an end to the inning.

It was one of the fastest games of the season, and enough sensational plays were in order to keep the spectators guessing throughout the entire contest. Several decisions handed down by the colored umpire were somewhat questionable, and did their part in registering a victory for the visitors. The score—

Notes on the Game.

The colored players are a drawing card, as was proved by the unusually large crowd that turned out for the game. Olani laid down a pretty sacrifice in the first inning. The visiting players played together at every stage and showed excellent team work. Weafer's catch of Berry's swift liner in the seventh was loudly applauded. Maberlin gave way to Francesco in the fifth, on account of a lame back. Rosini relieved Broggi in the fourth. Patterson was strong on comely with his Hugline Jennings act along first base line.

Weafer made two of the three hits credited to the locals. Franklin robbed Jacamuzzi of what looked like a safe one in the seventh. As many as ten visiting swatmen went down before Weafer's puzlers. Calagni fanned three times. Berry was easily the best infielder on the visiting team. Lewis, the colored backstop, missed two chances for put-outs by not running after foul flies.

When the Cubs and the Athletics clash for the world's championship, the fight for the pennant may possibly be decided by the success or by the failure of the signal system that each club will use.

In the National league pennant races of the past four years, the Cubs have been strong on signal work. Indeed, so intricate is the Chance system and so frequently it is changed, that the enemy is often put to rout, even when his quality of play is superior.

The Cubs enjoyed immunity from accident when it was winning three championships in a row, but in 1909 they were shot to pieces and the Pirates won out. This year Chance has his team almost intact, and another championship is his, as a result.

Following is the story of a baseball game, as told by a writer in the London Express: "Although baseball is still described as 'glorified rounders' by the average Englishman, there are enthusiasts who work hard to impart a taste for the game among London spectators. On the Clapton Orient Football club's grounds at Hornerton on Saturday, the final of the national baseball association's cup competition was played. Brentford beating West Ham by 20 runs to 3. The game was always interesting. West Ham did not have the luck of the play. Brentford's success, however, was in a great measure due to their really exceptional pitcher, who put in an almost unplayable ball."

NINE DEAD IN ACCIDENT

Mass of Rock Falls on Men at Work

IN OLD ERIE TUNNEL

Jar of Working Drills Loosens Rock and It Drops on Gang of Laborers Below—Many Injured Beside the Dead.

New York, Sept. 12.—At least nine laborers were killed outright yesterday, and 10 others injured, one of them critically and all seriously, in the collapse of an interchanging shoulder of rock from above the western mouth of the old Erie tunnel under Bergen hill, connecting the Erie terminal in Jersey City with its western divisions.

The collapse was directly beneath the edge of the Hudson boulevard, which at this point runs along the inner line of Bergen hill, and though the actual slip was out of sight of the holiday crowds, thousands lined the boulevard all afternoon, peering down at the work of removal.

Of the known dead, four were Americans, three were unidentified and two were foreigners.

Of the known injured the only one in immediate danger is John James, an American, 30 years old.

Surgeons had to cut the flesh from his right thigh to free him from the grip of the weight above.

For several years the Erie has been working at the gigantic task of carving an open cut for its passenger trains through the solid rock of Bergen hill, which in some spots is 300 feet high. The cut opened for travel not long ago, but there still remains the task of hewing a common portal for the old tunnel and the new cut, out of the ledge where they will meet west of the boulevard. It was there that the fall came yesterday.

A wall of rock from four to 10 feet thick still separates the two sets of tracks, and eight sets of drills were pounding away at it yesterday. Their jar loosened a strip of rock from this wall 40 feet wide and 20 feet high. It peeled off like wall paper and crashed upon the gang which was tearing down brick at the mouth of the old tunnel.

NEW RECORD FOR ACCURACY.

Brookings Lowers World Mark at Boston.

Boston, Sept. 12.—The 45,000 spectators at the Boston-Harvard aero meet, Saturday saw some interesting performances, with Wilbur Wright and Glenn H. Curtiss, the keenest rivals for supremacy, in aviation, both taking part in flights. Wright went up with Walter Brookings and assisted in throwing bombs at the mimic battleship target, while Curtiss tried out a new biplane, The Flying Fish, which belongs to the Curtiss company and Burgess of Marblehead. Curtiss had no difficulty in putting the biplane through its paces and it is generally understood that he will make use of it in an effort to better the time of Claude Grahame-White, in the race to Boston light for the Globe's $10,000 prize.

In an attempt to beat his own world's record for altitude of 6,140 feet, Walter Brookings mounted into the still, blue ether to 5,300 feet. While the journey did not give him a new mark for altitude, his teammate, Ralph Johnson, in the same Wright biplane, later went out for duration and made a new professional record, two hours, three minutes and 5 1/2 seconds in the air, on which journey he covered 62 miles 3,750 feet. Another mark which is claimed to be a world's record for sky-equipped aeroplanes was made by Brookings, who landed his biplane 12 feet 1 inch from a given point in a contest for accuracy.

It was the first day of the meet that Claude Grahame-White had not been the first professional aviator to go into the air. He was delayed Saturday by the necessity of repairing his Parman biplane, which was damaged in his final recent flight, but was able to come out in the repaired machine late in the afternoon, and secured points for second place in altitude, duration and distance. In addition to this, in L. B. Heriot's aeroplane, he won first place in the speed events.

BOSTON STILL THE FIFTH CITY.

Census Returns Showing Gain of Nearly 20 Per Cent. Over 1900.

Boston, Sept. 12.—The population of Boston is 676,383, an increase of 106,003 or 19.0 per cent., as compared with 569,892 in 1900. This announcement leaves Boston the fifth city in point of population in the United States. A decade ago St. Louis outranked Boston by only 14,246, and the present census leaves St. Louis ahead by 16,444. There was but slight change in the rate of progress in the two cities. St. Louis' increase from 1900 to 1910 being 19.4, and Boston leading that by two tenths of 1 per cent. Boston's population 20 years ago was 448,477. The increase from 1890 to 1900 was 112,415, or 25.1 per cent.

While Boston's rate of growth has fallen below the rate attained in the preceding decade, it is better than Pittsburgh's rate, 18.2, or Cincinnati's 11.8. But it is a rate that compares somewhat unfavorably with the 23.8 per cent. of growth scored by Providence, the second city in New England. It is evident that Providence continues to grow more rapidly than Boston, although Providence also lost in rate of growth compared with the preceding decade, when it was 32.9. Neither of the two largest New England cities, according to the census of 1910, shows the percentage of increase that New York shows, although Boston and Providence, both equal or surpass Philadelphia in this respect. The sensational percentages of Detroit, Atlanta, Denver and Kansas City, all being over 50, are of course in a class entirely different from the Boston rate.

LORIMER LEAVES HAMILTON CLUB.

Had Received Three Invitations to Attend Roosevelt Banquet.

Chicago, Sept. 12.—A terse note of resignation from the Hamilton club, of which he had been a member many years, was the answer made at Chicago yesterday by United States Senator William Lorimer, to the action of the club president, John T. Baizer, in withdrawing his invitation to the Roosevelt banquet Thursday night. The invitation was withdrawn at the demand of Col. Roosevelt, who refused to attend a banquet at which Senator Lorimer also was a guest.

While Senator Lorimer urged that his resignation be accepted immediately, it was said Saturday night that the senator's friends on the club board of governors probably would refuse to vote the acceptance. Together with the resignation Saturday, news of correspondence from President Baizer to Senator Lorimer developed, showing that the junior Illinois senator also was to have been a guest of honor and it was the hope of the club to make the dinner table as a harmonious occasion where all factions of the Republican party had broken bread together. At least three invitations were sent to Lorimer, each urging him to attend the banquet and to the last of these he sent his acceptance. After this on the day of the banquet came the sudden recall of the invitation. The note of resignation was written after a conference by the senator with a number of his friends and at first was believed to be a one which would be followed by a number of his admirers in the club. Later it was decided by his friends to refuse to accept the resignation.

ROOSEVELT HOME AGAIN

Ready for Primary Contest in New York

LINE UP FOR BATTLE

Both Roosevelt and Sherman Supporters Claim Victory in Contest for Chairmanship of the State Convention.

New York, Sept. 12.—With the return of Theodore Roosevelt from his western trip, the struggle between the old guard and the progressives for control of the Republican state convention looms larger upon the political horizon. Both sides have been conducting a quiet campaign for delegates during his absence, and the results of Tuesday's primaries in New York, Buffalo and Rochester will in large measure determine whether the selection by the state committee of Vice President Sherman as temporary chairman shall be ratified, or rejected in favor of Roosevelt.

Leaders of both factions profess confidence in their ability to win the support of a majority of the 1,015 delegates to the convention. Of the 20 old counties in which delegates have already been chosen, 132 are said to favor Sherman and 109 are credited to Roosevelt. Second and third-class cities will hold their primaries on September 20.

There will be two questions before the convention:—

First, whether Vice President Sherman shall be seated as temporary chairman, or whether the convention shall reverse the action of the state committee and seat Theodore Roosevelt; and, second, what shall be done about direct primaries.

Both factions of the party admit it is likely support of the delegates will differ on the two questions. So keen has the fight over them now grown that it has almost drowned out all talk of candidates for the state ticket.

ROOSEVELT HOME AGAIN.

Shuts Himself Up at Oyster Bay and Refuses to Admit Any Callers.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., Sept. 12.—After an absence of three weeks, Colonel Roosevelt is home again, weary from his western trip, but well satisfied with the result. He enjoyed every minute of it, he said.

He reached New York at 10 o'clock yesterday morning
